

Shrink Wrap Business Is Booming Even In Today's Economy

Reno, NV -- Business is shrinking for Mike Enos. But that's good. He's one of the founders of Fast Wrap, a Nevada company that offers shrink wrap franchises. He says the market for shrink wrap is increasing even in a down economy. Many of his prospective franchisees are people looking for a career change.

Fast Wrap offers clients a shrink wrap service that comes to them. Workers using plastic sheets and mobile heat guns can wrap everything from boats to buildings. Enos says Fast Wrap recently applied shrink wrap to a Reno-area airport control tower. He adds the protective covering allowed construction to continue in the cold weather.
