Shrink Wrap unsold / foreclosed homes

July 29, 2009 By: Home Category: Storage

Fast Wrap, a Reno, Nevada company started up as a company protecting boats and recreational vehicles from the off-season winter elements by encasing them in shrink wrap. Recently, they've been expanding their product base and taking on franchises nationwide. Outdoor furniture receives seemingly the same weatherproofing that construction projects and equipment that sits idle for a long time.

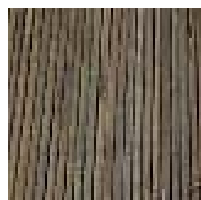

The new idea however, is wrapping unsold and/or foreclosed homes almost entirely in shrink wrap, protecting them from the elements without the care of a tenant, and possibly deterring vandalism. Any vandals that want to get past the shrink wrap would likely only need a pocketknife or scissors, but nonetheless, it's a nice deterrent from vandals out to strip a foreclosed home of the copper wiring...or worse.

Here's a link to FastWrap's site, in case you're looking to 'hole up' for the winter, or possibly get in on the franchise action. – Link
